

Importing Personal Property Into Argentina

HOUSEHOLD GOODS AND PERSONAL EFFECTS

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS AND REQUIRED DOCUMENTS

All household goods containers will undergo thorough physical inspections and x-ray scans due to recent drug findings in household goods shipments. Clearance time is extended to approximately 2 weeks and shipments may be subject to associated charges in USD of at least:

$1,200.00 = LCL's up to 10 cbm / $2,000.00 FCL 20' container / $2,500 = FCL 40' container.

Client's presence in Argentina is required during the clearance process to sign documents and present their passport to Customs Authority. Foreigners with a Permanent Residence Visa and/or returning Argentine citizens who have been living abroad for over one year can import used household goods and personal effects duty-free. Clients importing goods on a Temporary Visa must deposit a guaranty based on the value of the goods or be subject to taxes and duties of up to 50% on FOB value. One air and one sea shipment are allowed. Shipment must arrive within six months after client or three months prior to arrival. If shipment arrives over six months after client, a special permit must be obtained from the Director General of Customs in Argentina. These and other regulations may vary according to the client's immigration status. All items must be USED and have been in possession of the client for at least one year. New items (less than six months) are subject to high duties and can cause delays in customs clearance.

All documents must show client's name as it appears in the Passport. Client must note in the Passport they are expecting a shipment of household goods. Clients importing goods on a Temporary Visa must deposit a guaranty based on the value of the goods.

NOTES:

Entry & Exit Requirements: US citizens may be subject to a one time “entry fee” of 140.00USD at port of entry. Diplomats and officials are exempt. U.S. citizens wishing to enter Brazil or Paraguay from Argentina are required to obtain a visa in advance from the appropriate Embassy or consulate nearest to the traveler's place of residence. Travelers transiting between Brazil or Paraguay and Argentina should always make sure to present their passports to Argentine immigration officials to have their entry and exit from Argentina recorded.

Safety & Security: Individuals with ties to criminal entities operate along the tri-border area of Argentina, Brazil, and Paraguay. These organizations are involved in the trafficking of illicit goods; some individuals in the area financially support designated foreign terrorist organizations. U.S. citizens crossing into Paraguay or Argentina should consult the Country Specific Information on the Department of States website for those countries.

Crime: Along with conventional muggings and pick-pocketing, "express kidnappings" occur. Victims are grabbed off the street based on their appearance and vulnerability. They are made to withdraw as much money as possible from ATM machines, and then their family or co-workers are contacted and told to deliver all the cash that they have on hand or can gather in a couple of hours. Once the ransom is paid, the victim is usually quickly released unharmed.

Health: Typhoid fever is not common but a risk exists. Cholera exists and precautions are advised. Hepatitis A and intestinal parasitosis are widespread. Both cutaneous and mucocutaneous leishmaniasis occur. There is some risk of dengue fever and anthrax.

Fumigation of Wood Packing Materials: Argentina has stringent regulations regarding wood packing materials (WPM). Clients must send a Fumigation Certificate with the other shipping documents in addition to properly stamped crates & liftvans.
