

HOUSEHOLD GOODS AND PERSONAL EFFECTS

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS AND REQUIRED DOCUMENTS

Customs Regulations:

CLIENT MUST BE IN SAUDI ARABIA AT THE TIME OF CUSTOMS CLEARANCE

All shipments are physically inspected, and subject to duty including used household goods. Importation of consolidation shipments is not allowed: heavy penalties will be imposed for violations.

All documents must show the client's name exactly as it appears on the passport.

DO NOT use initials or abbreviations for names or companies. The Saudi government will not accept the documents otherwise. Surface documents must be received at the destination agent a minimum of seven days prior to arrival of the vessel.

Vehicle over 2 years old consolidated into one container of personal goods will attract duty of 5%.

Vehicle under 2 years old must be sent separately on its own B/L to duty exemption under "Bayan Magassa". Process to obtain exemption is 20-25 days.

Container Deposit: 800.00USD per container, paid in advance to origin agent. Refundable up return of empty container. Any damages to the returned container will be deducted from the deposit. Container detention fees become applicable after 14 days "free time" has expired.

Jeddah Port takes 14 days minimum to clear personal goods shipments. Documents submitted timely to Customs will have the demurrage charge waived. Container detention fees will not be waived.

NOTE: All printed materials, books, pictures, records, Cd's, DVD's, films, tapes, slides, software, hard discs and personal computers are subject to censorship and confiscation. They must be packed separately and clearly noted on the inventory list. Do NOT mix these items with other personal effects and household goods. These items will be removed from the shipment during Custom's clearance and sent to the Ministry of Information for review. Once censorship has been completed, a separate delivery will be made to the client at their expense. Any prohibited and even restricted items in the shipment will cause delays, be subject to confiscations and may incur penalties and possibly fines to the client's account.

NOTES:

Make Mark Information: All goods imported into the country must show the country of origin; i.e. "Made in the USA". This mark must coincide with the notarized documents presented to Customs for Clearance of the Goods. Failure to comply with this regulation will prohibit entry of the goods.

Shipment & Document Preparation: Containers and trailers must have comprehensive inventory lists of all contents in a water proof envelope taped to the rear door. List must show the clients name as shown on Passport and address. Failure to comply will result in heavy fines. Shipments are valued locally and rates vary depending on the items.

Entry & Exit Requirements: All visas require a sponsor, and must be obtained prior to arrival. Effective May 2008, the Saudi Ministry of Foreign Affairs agreed to issue 5-year multiple-entry visas to U.S. visitors and students. U.S. citizens have been refused a Saudi visa because their passports reflected travel to Israel or indicated that they were born in Israel.

Residents working in Saudi Arabia generally must surrender their passports to their sponsor while in the Kingdom. The sponsor (normally the employer) obtains work and residence permits for the employee and for any family members. Family members of workers are not required by law to surrender their passports, though some do. Residents should carry the Saudi Residence Permit (Iqama) for identification in place of their passports. The U.S. Embassy and Consulates General in Saudi Arabia cannot sponsor private U.S. citizens for Saudi visas.

Women visitors and residents must be met by their sponsor upon arrival. Women considering relocating to Saudi Arabia should be aware that women and children residing in Saudi Arabia as members of a Saudi household (including adult U.S.-citizen women married to Saudi men, adult U.S.-citizen women who are the unmarried daughters of Saudi fathers, and U.S.-citizen boys under the age of 21 who are the sons of Saudi fathers) require the permission of the Saudi male head of their household to leave the country.

Married women require their husband's permission to depart the country, while unmarried women and children require the permission of their father or male guardian. The U.S. Embassy can intercede with the Saudi government to request exit permission for an adult U.S. woman (wife or daughter of a Saudi citizen), but there is no guarantee of success, or even of timely response. Mothers are not able to obtain permission for the departure of minor children without the father's permission.

Visitors who overstay their visit in the Kingdom are subject to a fine of 10,000 Saudi Riyals (or $2,667) and incarceration pending deportation proceedings. Request clarification from Saudi Immigration authorities upon arrival as to your permitted length of stay. A common mistake among visitors is confusing the validity of their Saudi visa with the permitted length of stay in the Kingdom. Check your permitted length of stay online at the Visa Validity Service website by typing in your passport number and Saudi visa number.

Safety & Security: US citizens are encouraged to enroll in the Smart Traveler Enrollment Program, to stay current with the latest safety and security announcements dispersed by the Embassy in your area. Your enrollment can also help the Department of State reach your family and friends in case of emergency.

Avoid staying in hotels or housing compounds that do not appear to apply stringent security measures. Be aware of your surroundings when visiting establishments frequented by Westerners. Keep a low profile, vary times and routes of travel, exercise caution while driving, entering or exiting vehicles, and ensure that your travel documents and visas are current and valid.

U.S. Embassy and Consulates in Saudi Arabia may restrict travel of official U.S. diplomats or suspend public services for security reasons. Whenever threat information is specific, credible, and non-counterable, this information will be made available to the U.S. public. In those instances, the Embassy and Consulates will keep the local U.S. citizen community apprised through the Warden System and make every effort to provide emergency services to U.S. citizens. Warden messages for Saudi Arabia are available at the U.S. Embassy Riyadh website.

Criminal Penalties: Persons violating Saudi Arabian laws, may be expelled, arrested, imprisoned, or even executed. Suspects may be detained without charges or legal counsel, and with limited consular access, for months during the investigative stage of criminal cases. Penalties for the import, manufacture, possession, and consumption of alcohol or illegal drugs in Saudi Arabia are severe. Convicted offenders can expect long jail sentences, heavy fines, public floggings, and/or deportation. The penalty for drug trafficking in Saudi Arabia is death. Saudi officials make no exceptions. Saudi authorities do not permit criticism of Islam or the royal family. The government prohibits the public practice of religions other than Islam. Non-Muslims suspected of violating these restrictions have been jailed. Homosexual activity is considered to be a criminal offense and those convicted may be sentenced to lashing, prison, or death.

Health: All foreigners who are coming to work in the Kingdom must undergo a medical exam and present a medical report confirming that they are free from contagious diseases, including HIV/AIDS. Any worker testing positive for HIV/AIDS will not be allowed to work in the Kingdom. Please inquire directly with the Embassy of Saudi Arabia before relocation. A meningitis vaccination is recommended.

Fumigation of Wood Packing Materials: At this time Saudi Arabia does not ascribe to ISPM 15 requirements.
