

Importing Personal Property Into Switzerland

HOUSEHOLD GOODS AND PERSONAL EFFECTS

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS AND REQUIRED DOCUMENTS

Customs Regulations:

Client must be in Switzerland and take up residence prior to customs clearance in order to be eligible to import household goods and personal effects duty-free. All articles must be used at least six (6) months prior to importer's departure from a foreign country. The importation of used goods and personal effects into Switzerland is usually duty and tax free. Goods must arrive within 24 months from "change of residence" to Switzerland.

2nd or additional shipments must be announced upon the arrival of the 1st shipment.

All documents must be presented at point of arrival. Should any required documents be missing, Customs Authority will arrange importation of HHG on a temporary basis. In these circumstances, Swiss Customs will ask for a deposit according to the volume of the goods.

Due to landlocked location, all surface freight shipments will arrive via Antwerp, Belgium or Rotterdam, Netherlands. The Swiss destination agent will move the shipment in bond to Switzerland for customs clearance. Under NO circumstances is the description "Packed by Owner" (PBO) allowed.

NOTES:

Entry & Exit Requirements: Switzerland extends visa-free entry to U.S. citizens staying in Switzerland for up to 90 days (consecutive or combined, within a six-month period) for tourist or business purposes. The passport should be valid for at least three months beyond the period of stay.

Safety & Security: US citizens are encouraged to enroll in the Smart Traveler Enrollment Program, to stay current with the latest safety and security announcements dispersed by the Embassy in your area. Your enrollment can also help the Department of State reach your family and friends in case of emergency.

Crime: Pick-pocketing and purse snatching are the most common and frequently occur in the vicinity of train and bus stations, airports, and some public parks. Be especially vigilant in the airports and railway stations in both Zurich and Geneva.

Criminal Penalties: The United States and Switzerland do not have a bilateral agreement requiring mandatory notification of a U.S. citizen arrest to the U.S. embassy. If you are arrested and concerned that the Department of State may not be aware of your situation, you should request the police or prison officials to notify the nearest U.S. embassy or consulate of your arrest. In Switzerland it is expected that citizens and visitors carry an I.D. and/or a passport. Should the police stop you, and you are without an I.D., it is possible that you may be taken in for questioning. Swiss law only allows up to 0.05% blood alcohol content. Driving under the influence of alcohol can lead to heavy fines and/or a ban from driving or a jail sentence, depending on the percentage of alcohol in the blood. Driving speeds in Switzerland are also much slower than in the rest of Europe. Traffic fines are costly and vary according to where the infraction occurs and by how much one exceeds the speed limit.

Health: Medical care is excellent; however in many places, doctors and hospitals still expect payment in cash at the time of service. Verify that your medical insurance policy is valid overseas.

Fumigation of Wood Packing Materials: Switzerland imposes ISPM15 regulations for wood packaging material (WPM). Controls are carried out by the Federal Plant Health Service on goods from China, Korea, Japan, Taiwan, USA, Canada and Mexico. More details can be found at: www.spedlogswiss.com
