G. Additional information

--

I declare that the information given in this form is true and correct

Date
Signature
Name in block letters

Incorrect or incomplete information may lead to liability under the Act on Penalties for Smuggling (2000:1225)

Explanation of terms used in this form

(The numbers relate to the corresponding numbers in the declaration.)

1. Date of arrival in Sweden

The day you arrived in Sweden with the intention of taking up residence here.

2. Non-EU country

A country outside the customs territory of the EU.

3. Details of your residence/stay in a non-EU country

If any single item included in your personal belongings is worth more than 100 000 Swedish kronor (about 10 000 euros), you have to present documents to verify the information you provide in this declaration. This also applies if you claim duty relief for a vehicle (regardless of value). Should the customs office find reason to do so, they may require that you provide supporting documents in other cases as well.

Supporting documents may be for example: proof of your migration from Sweden; registration documents from the city/district in the non-EU country where you lived; work or residence permit; certificate issued by employer; lease or tenancy agreement; proof of your migration/return to Sweden.

4. Family

Family members can be your spouse, registered partner, cohabitant, children or parents with whom you are living.

5. Visits to the EU

When calculating how long you have stayed in a non-EU country, you may include shorter interruptions for visits to the EU. Visits are considered short if they total no more than 72 days for each one-year period in a non-EU country. If one and the same visit totals more than 72 days, no part of this visit may be included in the stay in the non-EU country.

6. Import restrictions

Some goods are subject to import restrictions. To bring in such goods you may need a special permit or be obliged to meet certain conditions. Examples of restricted goods are pharmaceutical products, animals, plants and certain fruits, foodstuffs, arms and ammunition.

7. List

As an alternative, you may refer to an inventory list attached to this declaration. If you enclose such a document, you must enter your name and signature on each page.

8. Details regarding means of transport

All information you provide regarding the purchase, delivery, registration and third party insurance shall apply to the conditions before the importation to Sweden.

9. Type of means of transport

Type of means of transport refers to e.g. car, motorcycle, caravan or boat.

10. Details regarding ownership and use

If any single item included in your personal belongings is worth more than 100 000 Swedish kronor (about 10 000 euros), you have to present documents to verify the information you provide in this declaration. This also applies if you claim duty relief for a vehicle (regardless of value). Should the customs office find reason to do so, they may require that you provide supporting documents in other cases as well.

Supporting documents may be for example: purchase documents (invoices, receipts, hire-purchase agreements); insurance documents; vehicle registration and third party insurance documents as regards means of transport; transport documents.

11. Member of household

A member of the household can be a family member, cohabitant, employee or any other person with whom the owner has a common household.

12. Household provisions

Household provisions are for example tinned goods, other foodstuffs, cleaning agents, and similar articles of consumption used in a household. But please have in mind that some of these articles may be subject to special import restrictions.
